What is it?

 Aid & Attendance is a benefit paid by the VA to veterans or surviving spouses. Aid & Attendance is an additional monetary award for veterans who meet eligibility criteria.

What is it?

 A Veteran who is determined by VA to be in need of the regular aid and attendance of another person, or a Veteran who is permanently housebound, may be entitled to additional disability compensation or pension payments. A Veteran evaluated at 30 percent or more disabled is entitled to receive an additional payment for a spouse who is in need of the aid and attendance of another person.

- Service Requirements: the veteran must have served in active military service (90 days or more), including at least one day during a period of war, and receive a discharge other than dishonorable.
- Care Requirements: must either reside in a nursing home or require regular help of another person to perform functions of daily living (bathing, feeding, dressing, toileting, etc.).

Special Monthly Compensation - Housebound

 Housebound benefits are payable when the claimant is substantially confined, due to service connected disability(ies), to their dwelling and the immediate premises or, if institutionalized, to the ward or clinical areas, and it is reasonably certain that this is permanent.

- Age/Disability: the applicant must either be over age 65 or disabled.
- Income Requirements: To qualify, the applicant's family income, less 95% of the recipient's unreimbursed medical expenses, must not exceed the VA threshold (changes annually and vary depending on marital status and dependents).

- Net Worth Requirements: there is no fixed asset limit; eligibility determination is at the discretion of the VA. Guidance issued by the VA indicates that it will not require a formal determination of applicant's net worth if the estate is less than $80k (excludes home and household personal property).
- Unlike Medicaid, the VA does not have a "look-back" period for making a determination of the applicant's net worth.

 Assets in a trust that effectively relinquishes all control of assets would not be countable income for VA purposes. That's sufficient for purposes of the work we do, so we don't mistakenly offer advice that causes someone to take action that potentially limits the availability of other benefits.

Family Members as Caregivers

 Many veterans are unaware that VA Pensions can be used to pay a family member who is the caregiver of a veteran or survivor (with the exception of spouses). As mentioned, care expenses can be deducted from their income, including payments made to family members, such as children or grandchildren. Beneficiaries can then receive an increased pension benefit equal to the amount they have paid to their family member for care.

Family Members as Caregivers

 Unfortunately, this method does not work for the veteran's spouse since joint income is calculated as household income, therefore any salary the spouse received would be included as part of their household income, and would not be considered a deductible care expense.

Application Process

- Appropriate form and evidence.
- Details that help show what kind of illness, injury, or mental or physical disability affects the veteran's ability to do things, like take a bath, on your own

Veterans Services

- The VA may be able to pay you at a higher rate if you identify expenses VA considers allowable.
- Medical and dental expenses paid by you may be deductible from the income VA counts when determining your benefit entitlement.

 Utilizing a VA Form 21p-8416 identify any medical or dental expenses that you paid for a member of your household (self, spouse, child, etc.) for which you were not reimbursed.

- The following are examples of expenses you should include, if applicable:
- Hospital expenses
- Doctor's office fees
- Dental fees
- Prescription/Non-Prescription drug costs
- Vision care costs
- Medical insurance premiums

- Nursing home costs
- Hearing aid costs
- Home health service expenses
- Expenses related to transportation to a hospital, doctor, or other medical facility
- Monthly Medicare deduction

There are two types of deductible expenses:

- Those that are allowed as deductions from total countable income, and
- Those that are allowed only as deductions from specific income.

Reference: For information about deductions from specific income, see M21-1MR, Part V, Subpart iii, 1.G.51.

Rules for Deductibility of Unreimbursed Medical Expenses

- Expenses actually paid by beneficiary or beneficiary's spouse.
- Expenses are unreimbursed.
- Expenses for beneficiary or relative who is a member of household.
- Paid on or after date of pension entitlement or date of Veteran's death (if after date of pension entitlement).
- Expenses exceed five percent deductible.

- Went into effect on November 1, new law fully implemented no earlier than February, 2019.
- VA has not published any proposed regulations, but fact sheet will be distributed after the webinar.

- Electing to participate in voluntary.
- Claimants must be invited by the VA to participate.
- Claimant must personally sign the opt-in form.

Share with customers:

- Decision to opt-in to RAMP is final, client will stay in the new appellate system.
- All of claimant's appeals that have not been certified by Board of Veterans Appeals (BVA) will automatically opted in.
- Board will not process the Veteran's appeal under the new streamlined process no earlier than February 2019.
- There is a potential the Veteran could wait longer than if they remained in the traditional appeals process.
